INTRODUCTION

The goal of this book is to make the oldest records of the New Elm Congregation readily available to genealogists. When organized in 1850, New Elm was an independent congregation of Swiss and German immigrants who adhered to the tenants of the Reformed faith. For the first sixty-five years, church records were written in German Gothic script which relatively few Americans can read today.

New Elm church records for the years 1851-1961 were recorded in five books now in the possession of the Bethany United Church of Christ in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. Two of these books were registers for the baptisms, burials, confirmations and marriages--and three smaller books were used to record church business. This present work is a translation of the 1851-1914 register, but it includes burial records from the 1915-1961 register, which was written in English.

Only a few pages of the 1851-1914 church register were numbered originally, and those not all in the proper sequence. In preparing the translation, the pages were all renumbered in the proper sequence (on a copy, no marks were made on the original). These new numbers are referenced in this book.

In two instances, groups of baptismal records were recorded twice. This occurred because of errors or omissions when the records were first entered. It is interesting to compare the duplicate entries. Notes on pages 9 and 29 indicate which records were duplicated.

Names and Titles

In this translation, personal names are spelled as they appeared in the original text. As a result, there are several versions of some surnames. All versions of a name are grouped together and indexed alphabetically by given name. Consequently the indexes are not in strict alphabetical order. A few names defied accurate transcription because of the handwriting, but they are printed as they appeared to the editor and followed by a question mark enclosed in square brackets. The editor would greatly appreciate hearing from readers who can recognize any of these names.

In the original text the names of married women were written in traditional German format; for example, Frau Katharina Zentner geb. Bräm, i.e. married name, then maiden name. In the translation her name is given in accordance with American custom, for example, Mrs. Katharina Bräm Zentner. When a woman's married name was the same as her maiden name, it is translated in the format, Rosina born Rhyner. In a baptismal record, only the mother's maiden name is given; her married name and the title Frau are left untranslated. When an unmarried woman is called Jungfrau in the text, the title is translated Miss.

Place-names

Place-names were translated when a readily recognizable English version exists, otherwise the place name was copied ad literatim from the church book. The editor tried to find all German place names in old Gazetteers and maps, but many could not be found. Most Swiss place-names mentioned in the church book were readily found in Familiennamenbuch der Schweiz.

Indexes

There are separate indexes for the four different types of records found in the church book. Since there are child and parent indexes for the baptisms, the total number of indexes is five. Index pages

INTRODUCTION

ii

are not numbered, but they are printed on colored paper to make them easier to locate. (Refer to the table of contents for the arrangement of the indexes.)

Abbreviations

The original records contain many abbreviations. Most of the abbreviations were eliminated in the translation process, but those occurring in names are retained. A common abbreviation involved dropping one letter from nn or mm. For example Johannes was written Johanes, and Anna was written Ana. Occasionally a single letter l or t was written as ll or tt. These are mentioned because they may look like typographical errors to the reader.

Abbreviations and Conventions Used in This Book

Square brackets surround all editorial comments.

d/o = daughter of s/o = son of

Pfr = Pfarrer (Pastor)

[...] indicates some specific item, a date for example, was left out of the original record.

[---] indicates information which was in the record but is illegible.

[?] indicates doubt or uncertainty about a detail of an entry. It is located after the word or name in question.

[sic] means that the preceding word is transcribed just as it appeared in the church record.

Witnesses: Fridolin Zentner and Kleofea Zentner.

[At this point a note in Felix Widmer's handwriting said he was going to record some baptisms a second time on the pages which follow because of incorrect entries and omissions on the preceding pages.]

[A comparison of pages 6-9 with pages 10-15 shows that the baptisms of six children were not included in the first group and that most of the children's birthdates were omitted from that group. These omissions were made good on pages 10-15. However, the baptism of Barbara Gallatin on page 7 was not repeated in the second series. One child, Allusius Pfiescher, was called daughter on page 8 and son on page 14.]

Indexes

Order of Indexes:

Child Index for Baptisms ..... Orange
Parent Index for Baptisms ..... Blue
Confirmation Index. .... Orange
Burial Index ..... Blue
Marriage Index ..... Orange

- Names are printed in the normal order--given name then surname.
- Persons with the same surname are grouped together, regardless of spelling, and arranged alphabetically by given name. As a result, personal names are not in strict alphabetical order.
- Some names occur in several variations--check alternate spellings.
- In the burial index, a woman's maiden name and married name are both indexed, when known.
